INSTRUCTOR: Peter Belisle, Head Coach UMASS Boston, Men's Ice Hockey

A seasoned hockey professional, Belisle is currently the head coach at the University of Massachusetts- Boston (UMB). With four seasons under his belt at UMB, he has constructed teams that registered the highest win totals at UMB in eight campaigns, while winning the school's first playoff game since 2000. Under his direction, the Beacons won their first Codfish Bowl championship since 1997, defeated a pair of nationally-ranked teams, and went all the way to the ECAC East Tournament Championship game - for the first time in school history. Belisle became the program's 11th varsity head coach after spending nine years with Division I University of Connecticut as an assistant coach. The New England Native spent his first year of coaching with College of the Holy Cross, where he helped guide the Crusaders to their first playoff victory in 13 years. He returned to UConn the following season to help guide the program that he was once a part of as a four-year standout forward ('91-'95). Belisle's coaching experience is not limited to his collegiate tenure, having instructed and been a coach at several of New England's premier hockey camps. He has served as a head instructor at the Connecticut Hockey Experience, the Learn to Skate Program at UConn, the Bill Belisle Hockey School, and the Mount Saint Charles Instructional Hockey Program and coaches at the USA Hockey Team New England Select 14-15 and Select 16-17 Player Development Camps annually. Prior to his collegiate career, Belisle was a proud part of Mount Saint Charles Academy hockey team that captured two Rhode Island State championships and one national championship.
